Miss Patricia Dorian
act Sec. of State for Human Rights Wash. D.C.

Dear Miss Dorian:

This letter is to serve as an official complaint against those State Dept. Personnel in the American Embassy - London. This concerns their refusal to give me my passport which they now have in their custody even though I have made repeated requests. I have received, in reply to my letters, a list of excuses you wouldn't believe. Not only have they repeatedly lied to me concerning their reasons but have lied again to cover up their various stories. You see, each time I hear from a different Vice Consul and they apparently do not get their stories organized. I finally made a personal contact with one Vice Consul who doesn't lie and he admitted that they were holding the passport because I have a parole violation in the U.S. The charge is changing my address without notifying the Justice Dept. What an horrible offense! Sounds like something out of Russia doesn't it. They have no intention of returning the passport unless forced to do so even though I am legally entitled - indeed, my right by citizenship, to have it here in my personal property. As this right has been refused me I am an alien in a foreign country with no identification - I am technically new - treated a technical person and my human rights are being arbitrarily violated, not by the English, but by my own government's police protection of state.

They have stated that they will furnish me travel documents. I will not accept this on any other basis unless they are Section 215 of the Immigration & Naturalization Act (8 U.S.C. 1185). I urge you to investigate that matter and the violation of my human rights. If I am to be denied my own identity passport then my nationality is not good to me whatsoever and I will take steps to relieve the U.S. Embassy of any further responsibility - and notify every organization I can find of this persecuted situation. To thank my own government for the move to arrange others for human rights violations is a shame. This is not of your doing and I truly hope that you will assure the necessity of a satisfactory conclusion. I'll check often because that's in our interest. Please advise me of your action of your earliest convenience. I will notify domestic state that you are working on the case. Many thanks for your assistance and a very sincere.
